COURTESY OF SCOTIAYA IMAGES

Why?

Similarly to the A96, Waterford Road will be raised to travel over the new flood embankment.

When will it happen?

Work is expected to commence in November 2013.

The raised road will be opened summer 2014.

How will it affect me?

The temporary diversion will provide the same level of access as the current road.

A temporary footpath will be provided for pedestrians.

Traffic lights will only be used at each end of the works for short periods.

Posts marking out the route of the temporary diversion

Where?

The route of the temporary diversion can be seen in the aerial photograph. It is currently marked out on site using posts, and the site boundary for this part of the works has been fenced off.
